

ABIGAIL JANISSA

a CV & Portfolio!

Hi, I'm Abby!

and I haven't changed my headset since 2012

I love to write

Seriously, I really do. It started out in middle school where I wrote some (a LOT) of Batman fanfictions, writing became such a passion that I refused to let it die. I began writing superhero movie reviews and online essays, weird angsty paragraphs that oddly went viral a couple of times on LINE.

"If you're good at something, never do it for free."

Children shouldn't listen to the words of a psychopath but that's what I did. Aside from writing, I also discovered I like making contents for people. The more engaging, the better. (This is visible from my IG account where I just like making weird edits of myself and make people go "???"). I earn my living by creating contents and writing captions for social media.

Jack of all trades

Other than writing, I also do simple portraits for those who loves themselves, celebrities, fictional characters, or their significant others.

My Educational Background

I graduated as a valedictorian from here. Didn't attend the graduation though, thought I was being edgy. Didn't regret not attending until now, though I just want to see the look on their faces when they called my name and I was absent until the very end.

Other than to manage and post daily about the company's many vendors, I was also tasked to create contents that will attract engagements and impressions as well as widen their reach.

One of the ways I did it was by creating these Zodiak! contents. I loved making them, as you can see, I put a lot of effort into it and I loved how it turned out.

With them, I mostly monitor their instagram growth. However occasionally I would pitch in content ideas that can also help with expanding their brand awareness.

Digital Illustration

Did I also mention that I draw? I think I did.

Here are some of my illustrations. Drawing was a therapeutic means to me and I always used traditional methods, I drew for fun and for my own eyes. That changed when peer pressure forced me to jump the digital bandwagon and start selling them.

I've only started digital illustrating only 3 months ago, but I've done well so far.
